Summit Overview

Dr Mohan Kaul, Director General, Commonwealth Business Council

Following the successful Power Summit 2011, the Commonwealth Energy Summit is designed to provide a high level platform to discuss issues relating to energy security, natural resource utilisation, power generation and renewable energy. The Commonwealth platform encourages greater engagement between developed and developing countries, sharing of best practice across the sector and the connection of investors to new opportunities in a diverse range of markets.

The Energy Summit will give Governments the opportunity to outline their future energy requirements and strategies to an audience of private sector solution providers, financiers and investors. It will give best in class service providers and cutting-edge technology developers the opportunity to showcase their expertise.

The Summit will be global with participation from Ministers of Power and Energy from the Commonwealth and beyond together with delegations from across the world each bringing a regional as well as a national dimension to the conference. There will be a focus on countries and regions including from Africa, Asia-Pacific, Europe, the Americas and the Caribbean

Who should attend?

The Commonwealth Energy Summit 2012 will provide an unrivalled opportunity to network with a wide variety of national decision makers and business leaders from segments including:

- Government and Regulators
- Energy Technology Companies
- Energy Solution Providers
- Infrastructure Providers
- Project Financiers and Investors
- Energy Service Companies

About the Commonwealth Business Council

The Commonwealth Business Council (CBC) was established in 1997 with a direct mandate from Heads of Commonwealth Governments to promote trade and investment amongst 54 member nations and increase economic linkages with non-member countries.

CBC's goal is to achieve economic empowerment for shared global prosperity through the enhancement of private sector contribution to social and economic development.

Hon Julia Gillard MP, Prime Minister of Australia

"The nations and peoples of the Commonwealth are enormously diverse, yet these values we share, our distinctive way of doing things and our distinctive set of concerns for the world's people, unite us in a way that is truly wonderful ... Our friends in the Business Council call it the "Commonwealth factor", the web of connections, friendships and values that drive opportunity among the 54 nations of our fellowship."

HE Prof. John Evans Atta Mills, President of Ghana

"It is a fact that the Commonwealth Business Council has facilitated intra-Commonwealth trade and investment flows, influenced development of dynamic trade policies, and encouraged public private partnerships"

Hon Kamla Persad Bissessar, Prime Minister of Trinidad And Tobago

"I extend warmest congratulations to the Commonwealth Business Council for its foresight in bringing together such a distinguished group of businessmen, entrepreneurs, investors and financiers for the purpose of fostering economic partnerships for the benefit of the family of Commonwealth nations. "
